

BOUND TO RISE

You know this life is full of choices / That determine where it ends
And oh this world is full of evil / Full of death and full of sin
 In hearts of men / Who don't repent / So they might live
And how I'm ever aching for you / To see the valley that you're in
To see the depth to which you've fallen / But I know that you'll be free again

(Prechorus) They tell you true love is acceptance / And they're glad for where you are
Do not lean on man's understanding
True love does not delight in evil / But rejoices with the truth
Surely you must know how much I love you

(Chorus) I call you forth / Out from all the darkness that is covering your eyes
And so I sing / And call you into being who you really are in Christ
You are bound to rise

You know this world is full of darkness / Full of lust and full of lies
And the father of all liars / Seeks to steal your very life
 He comes disguised / As full of light / For your demise
How I hate to see you choosing / Not to leave the path you're on
I know you're testing and you're searching / But you've had the answer all along

(Prechorus) There is a way that seems right to us / But it does not lead to life
Do not lean on your understanding
Embrace the discipline and suffering / God is making you His son
Surely you must know how much He loves you

(Chorus) I call you out / Free from all deception that is capturing your mind
And as I sing / I call you into being who you really are in Christ
You are bound to rise

(Bridge) Sometimes it seems that I don't know you anymore
You're here and yet you're gone / And you're not opening your door
Sometimes it seems that you're just pushing me away
And you do not want to hear / The truth I have to say

(Chorus) I call you forth / Out from all the darkness that is covering your eyes
And so I sing / And call you into being who you really are in Christ
I call you out / Free from all deception that is capturing your mind
And as I sing / I call you into being who you really are in Christ
Who you really are in Christ / Who you really are in Christ / You are bound to rise

(Intercession Outro) I see you on the other side / I see you as an overcomer
I say to you Awake Arise / Stir yourself up from this slumber
Who you really are is found in God / Who you really are is found through dying
Will you choose to love His holy rod / And let go of this defying
You know you are not satisfied / You know you have this gnawing hunger
You know that you have compromised / So much bondage you've been under
Are you willing to lay down your rights? / Are you willing not to be so stubborn?
Are you willing to give up this fight? / Do not tarry any longer
He is waiting now with open arms / Are you broken are you lost and needy?
Run to Him and you will not be harmed / Throw yourself upon His mercy
He who seeks to save his life shall lose it / He who gives it all shall gain the Prize
The eternal calling you must choose it / So I cry out— You are bound to rise!
